Radio Bundelkhand celebrated Children's Day through its live programme 'Baatein Tumhari Humari' on 14 November 2019. This was aimed at encouraging listeners to talk about the significance of the day. Radio Anchor, Varsha and Chandra Prakash Niranjan from Development Alternatives along with students of Army School celebrated this day at the Radio Station.

Through this programme, the anchors discussed the ways to increase awareness of the rights, care and education of children. They also paid tribute to India's first Prime Minister, Jawaharlal Nehru, fondly known as Chacha Nehru among children. The programme talked about how he advocated for children to have fulfilled lives through good education and nutrition.

The students from Army School also shared how they celebrated the occasion at their school by participating in various children's activities. Competitions were held for poem recitations and the students came up with beautiful poems around the theme of children's day. Their school also hosted a children's carnival and encouraged students to participate in the various activities.

The community members called into the Radio Bundelkhand station and through the telephonic exchange, the listeners became part of the celebration. They discussed how the children of today are the future of tomorrow's India, thus it is important to provide comprehensive development, through both academic as well as co-curricular activities for good mental and physical development of children.
